

CHICAGO CELEBRITIES AND URBAN PREP SUPPORTERS GO “ALL-IN” AT THE ACES UP! CELEBRITY CHARITY POKER TOURNAMENT

On November 29, 2007, Illinois State Treasurer Alexi Giannoulias, Chicago Sun-Times columnist and “At the Movies” host Richard Roeper and former Chicago Bear Chris Zorich hosted “Aces UP!” celebrity poker tournament to support Urban Prep Academy, Chicago’s only all-boys public charter high school. Participants played Texas Hold ‘Em while competing for a prize pool valued at more than $10,000.

The event raised more than $100,000 to support the school’s innovative programs aimed at ensuring its students, 90 percent of whom come from economically disadvantaged homes, have the opportunity for a comprehensive education that prepares them for college.

The event received advance coverage in the Chicago Sun-Times, Time Out Chicago as well as a number of blogs and social networking sites and was covered by WMAQ-TV (NBC). Additionally, event hosts Chris Zorich and Richard Roeper appeared on WFLD-TV (Fox), WBBM-TV (CBS), WMAQ-TV (NBC) and WGN-TV morning shows the week prior to the event. Alexi Giannoulias also spoke on B96 (WBBM-FM) twice.

Over the course of the five-hour tournament, 300 players were pared down to two. Ultimately only one person could be the “Aces UP!” 2007 Champion. On the final hand, both players were all-in: Pete with an Ace-Six against a Queen-Six held by Mark. Mark flopped two pair, but Pete managed to turn an Ace, giving him two better pair. Pete’s patient play, smart decisions and a little luck resulted in him winning a $5,000 gift card and receiving riotous applause from the scores of onlookers who had stayed to watch the final table action.
